

Ranking Iberoamericano SIR 2012

Introducción

El Ranking Iberoamericano SIR 2012 constituye la tercera edición de esta herramienta para el análisis de la actividad investigadora de las Instituciones de Educación Superior en Iberoamérica. El informe, diseñado en forma de conjunto de rankings o tablas clasificatorias, incluye una selección de indicadores bibliométricos cuya finalidad es poner de manifiesto las dimensiones más relevantes del rendimiento investigador de las instituciones.

Como en las ediciones anteriores, el Ranking Iberoamericano persigue servir de herramienta de análisis y evaluación de la investigación para responsables de políticas científicas, gestores institucionales, investigadores y medios de comunicación. Cuenta además con un doble objetivo: por un lado pretende ofrecer una visión general, ayudando a los responsables políticos a comprobar cómo se adecuan los resultados de investigación de las instituciones a los objetivos establecidos en los planes y programas nacionales de ciencia. Y por otro, desde un punto de vista más específico, proporciona un instrumento de benchmarking a las propias Instituciones de Educación Superior.

Características y Novedades

El Ranking Iberoamericano SIR 2012 muestra un perfil detallado de la actividad investigadora de las Instituciones de Educación Superior basándose en datos cuantitativos de publicación y citación. Para su elaboración se ha analizado toda la producción científica presente en la base de datos Scopus, elaborada por Elsevier, en el periodo 2006-2010 y se ha asociado cada publicación y cada cita encontrada a la institución o instituciones correspondientes.

En esta edición, el ranking muestra cinco indicadores: producción científica, ratio de colaboración internacional, calidad científica promedio de cada institución, proporción de artículos publicados en revistas de prestigio y ratio de excelencia investigadora (definición más precisa en la barra lateral). Además se incluyen las tasas de variación de cada uno de los valores con respecto al valor del periodo 2005-2009.

Se debe mencionar que la inclusión por parte de Elsevier, de un gran número de revistas de la región en la base de datos Scopus durante este periodo repercute en los descensos generalizados de los valores que muestran las tasas de variación con respecto al periodo anterior de algunos indicadores. Por ese motivo los valores de variación de ER y Q1 tienden a ser negativos.

Indicadores

PC::Producción Científica

Producción científica de la institución medida en número de publicaciones en revistas científicas. PC ofrece una idea general del tamaño de una institución. En publicaciones con coautoría, se asigna un punto a cada una de las instituciones participantes.

CI::Colaboración Internacional

Ratio de publicaciones científicas de una institución que han sido elaboradas conjuntamente con instituciones de otros países. Los valores se calculan analizando las publicaciones de una institución cuya afiliación incluye direcciones pertenecientes a más de un país.

CCP::Calidad Científica Promedio

Impacto científico de una institución después de eliminar la influencia del tamaño y el perfil temático de la institución. El CCP permite comparar instituciones de diferentes tamaños y con distintos perfiles de investigación. Una puntuación de 0.8 significa que una institución es citada un 20% menos que la media mundial. Un valor de 1.3 indica que la institución es citada una 30% más que la media mundial.

Q1::Porcentaje de Publicaciones en Revistas del Primer Cuartil SJR

Indica el porcentaje de publicaciones que una institución ha publicado en revistas incluidas en el primer cuartil (25%) ordenadas por el indicador SJR. El indicador SJR mide la influencia o prestigio científico de las revistas mediante el análisis de la cantidad y la procedencia de las citas que recibe una revista científica. Su uso se ha extendido a través del portal SCImago Journal & Country Rank y es utilizado por Elsevier en su índice de citas Scopus.

ER::Ratio de Excelencia

El Ratio de Excelencia indica el porcentaje del output de una institución que se encuentra incluido en el 10% de los trabajos más citados del mundo en sus respectivos campos científicos. Es un indicador de la producción científica de alta calidad que produce una institución. Info sobre el indicador Excellence Rate en: leydesdorff.net

La presente edición 2012 del Ranking Iberoamericano aumenta en 32 el número de instituciones desde las 1.369 Instituciones de Educación Superior (IES) en el periodo anterior (2005-2009) hasta las 1.401 de la presente edición (periodo 2006-2010) También el número de países crece en uno incluyendo a Bermudas ausente en las pasadas ediciones. Como ya es habitual en todas las ediciones del ranking la presente publicación incluye todas aquellas IES Iberoamericanas que han publicado algún documento científico (indexado en la base de datos Scopus) en el periodo 2006-2010.
